THE SYRIAN CRISIS WORSE THAN EVER!

We will be leaving 2013 as we entered with a nasty and horrible war going on in Syria. As usual women and children are the big victims. How can a whole world be sitting passive and allow this to happen? A very weak leadership in the UN has sat the organisation on the sideline. And obvious to everyone, that is exactly what the Russians, Chinese and Americans like to see. The bill now for immediate help is close to 6 Billion USD – and guess who will be paying? It is painful to watch how the Western world allows the Russians and the Chinese bully us. And why does the US allow it? – Well who else should pick up the bill but the Chinese? The world's leading nation continues to spend far more than they make and will keep on doing so until we have a change of leadership. True but very sad news for all those suffering in Syria – they should prepare for another terrible year for their many innocent people.

NEW PARTNER TO JOIN EC!

Alan Duran Monroy, born 1986, lived in the U.S. for more than 10 years studying at the University of Arizona with a minor in International Business. He then moved to Mexico starting at the well recognized Universidad del Valle de Mexico (UVM) where he received a Bachelors Degree in International Business.

He worked for Banamex (owned by Citi group) funding small and mid-size companies. He then worked for the most important FX Company in Mexico, Monex giving clients the facility for trading the most common currency which is US dollars after Mexican pesos. He worked with mining, agriculture and industrial companies providing them with the services on offer, performing hundreds of transactions during the week facilitating international bank transactions, using the FX platform.

Mexico City

During the last two years he has focused on funding companies in tourism, construction, and specially working with the most important sector in Mexico which is Pemex. Petroleos Mexicanos is the government owned oil conglomerate which can easily be compared with Exxon Mobile or BP Global.

Mexico has huge potential for investors especially after the new energy reform President Peña Nieto has passed on to congress, giving Mexico an upper hand in comparison with Petro bras, Exxon, and other major oil conglomerates.

Mexico competes with Brazil in being the most important country on the American Continent after the United States and Canada. The country has huge potential of investment (do you mean need for investments or potential for investors?). We are now at a point when all the big investment firms are looking at us with big expectation's due to the change of Political leadership the country got after last year's election.

Mexico now produces 3MBPD (million barrels per day) which provides 35% of government cash flow. It is very important for the government's politics and Internal Economic growth. The country has now entered into a new era that will make Mexico one of the most important emerging countries if not the most important.

Our geographical location is giving us a huge benefit. Mexico's exports are around 1Billion USD every 24 hours, and the sectors involved are primarily vehicle manufacturers, mining facilities, electronic manufacturer's and oil and gas exploration. Our major export markets are the United States, Canada, China and the European Union.

Mexico is the country having the most foreign treaties in the world, making us an attractive country to trade with and to invest in. Many countries fled to China during the last decade due to cheap labour and local fiscal arrangements, but we are now seeing that all those companies are coming back to Mexico. As for the energy sector we will be more competitive than China with wages now the same in both countries.

"It is my intention to bring major investments into Mexico", says Mr. Monroy. "There are many reliable sectors that are not being exploited by Mexican banks and local investment firms. I believe our country has what it takes to become a first world country in the next 10 to 15 years, especially with the help of foreign investment firms that actually see the growth potential in Mexico."

CURRENCY & INTEREST RATES

The Bank of England's Monetary Policy Committee on December 5th voted to maintain the official Bank Rate paid on commercial bank reserves at 0.5%. The Committee also voted to maintain the stock of asset purchases financed by the issuance of central bank reserves at £375 billion.

The Committee reached its decisions in the context of the monetary policy guidance announced alongside the publication of the August 2013 Inflation Report.

At the November 13th Inflation Report the opening Remarks by the Governor were quite positive. Inflation is now as low as it has been since 2009. Jobs are being created at a rate of 60,000 per month. The economy is growing at its fastest pace in 6 years.

For the first time in a long time, you don't have to be an optimist to see the glass as half full.

Bank of England

It is welcome that the economy is growing again, but a return to growth is not yet a return to normality. Nearly one million more people are out of work than in the years before the financial crisis. Many others in part time work would prefer to be working full time. Real wages are not yet increasing. And the economy remains 2.5% smaller than it was in 2008.

A strong and sustained recovery is needed to put people back in work and use up the slack in the economy. A sustained recovery requires a revival of business investment.

The British Pound keeps its strong position towards USD and NOK and although not yet back where it was one year ago against the Euro it is slowly but surely improving. The 100 index is creeping upwards and most likely showing signals that things are moving in the right direction in the European markets for Britain.

The Norwegian Stock Exchange (25) has gone from a level above 460 to 530. The new conservative government has already shown they will keep their promises something bedding for new and long term growth.

The NOK has kept on falling towards the most important currencies which is good for exports that might see challenges in a still weak EU market. It also helps reducing the enormous border trade leaks to Sweden.

In spite of all this the Salomon exports made new records both in price and volume reaching more than 50 billion NOK. With a steady signal from the Central bank the interest rate will stay unchanged at 1.5% throughout 2014.

Denmark The OMXC20CAP is down to 606. Still struggling with a very weak government

The Swedish Interest rate down 0.25% to 0.75%. The main reason is said to be 0.1 inflation rate, quite much lower than expected. So again a good timely move.

EUR/USD has a steady flow in the corridor 1,334 to 1,336 and we predict it to stay that way in the next couple of months.

2013 – AN EXCITING YEAR!

For us at EC 2013 has been a very interesting year. We have managed to grow the company now having more than 35 well located and highly experienced Partners. The growth will still continue for next year. We have as every year found and exposed people in the industry with only purpose in life and that is to steal from others. But regulation in the industry is getting better and in a few years time it will be more difficult for Scammers and Liars to survive for long.

Next year will offer new options and new ways to fund businesses. We will as always concentrate on countries with a healthy political system and try to avoid political risk become a too big part of the project evaluation.

We are also planning to launch a new investment fund, the EC Asset Management Fund Ltd. This will be a very interesting fund where commodities will be the base. The Head Trader is a very experienced man with a strong track record and we are looking very much forward to present this to all of you.

So a big Thank You to all of our partners who work day and night to assist and help our clients and also a big Thank You to all our clients – it is great working with you all!

Have a Merry Christmas & a Happy New Year!!!
